Fewer Mosquitoes Makes Everything Better

Grilling out. Gardening. Spending time outdoors with family and friends. Everything is more enjoyable in your outdoor space when you're not swatting pesky mosquitoes. Now there is an easy way to have your yard all to yourself.

Behold the Power of Backpack Misting

Backpack misting is the latest innovation in flying insect control. It gives your trained mosquito control professional the ability to reach the parts of your yard where mosquitoes hide and multiply. When you want to enjoy the outdoors and all it has to offer while protecting your family at the same time, consider mosquito protection. Don't let mosquitoes ruin the fun – turn your outdoor space into a bite-free zone.

Backpack misting goes where mosquitoes hide to provide long-lasting control.

Why it Pays to Call the Professionals

Many homeowners are dissatisfied with the mosquito control products they purchase at retail. Professional services are expanding rapidly across the United States as homeowners are learning more about this innovative service.

- Targeted applications create a barrier around the home and yard
- Allows for coverage of a large space
- Estimated one hour dry time
- Residual control reduces the frequency of re-occurrences
- Effective against other pests such as flies, ticks and fleas
- Regular service keeps populations low
- Great for special events
